Sponsorship: International Friction Processing Seminar and Workshop 2011

Dear reader,

The Nelson Mandela Metropolitan University will be hosting an International Friction Processing Seminar on 31 August 2011. The one day seminar is aimed at presenting the fundamentals and current status of Friction Processing research. It aims to provide researchers and engineers an opportunity to review the current status of available Friction Processes and discuss the future possibilities of the technology.

To conclude this seminar the NMMU will be hosting an International Friction Processing Workshop for industry on 01 September 2011 to discuss the strategic direction of Friction Processing research in South Africa. Discussions with international stakeholders and international collaboration teams will assist in strategically aligning research activities and to establish possible research collaboration.

In an effort to ensure the success of this endeavour, companies and members of industry are invited to provide financial and stationery item/s contributions (pens, notepads, etc.). This event will host a maximum of 60 delegates. Sponsors will have the opportunity to become part of this historic event within the Friction Processing research community of South Africa.

Establishments and persons willing to provide sponsorship towards efforts of the International Friction Processing Seminar and Workshop, are kindly requested to complete the below return slip.
